Three things for voters to know

- If elected, I will work to promote economic development and diversity to spread the tax base, stabilize revenue, and reduce the tax burden, fostering a sustainable and prosperous future for Leavenworth County. Supporting diverse businesses ensures long-term community growth and financial stability.
- If elected, I will leverage my experience as a small business owner to foster a strong and sustainable county. I will ensure thorough reviews of the budget, committing to include necessary items that support sustainable growth while reducing waste.
- I will collaborate with individuals at all levels, regardless of political affiliation, to ensure that Leavenworth County is well-represented and has access to the necessary resources to set us up for success

Three things for voters to know

- I will look to reduce property taxes and cut excessive county government spending. Inflation is the highest it has been in years. Housing, food and fuel costs are skyrocketing. The county should not increase spending while taxpayers are having to tighten their belts.
- Leavenworth is home. Let's make Leavenworth a place where more people want to invest, live and thrive. As I raise the 7th generation of my bloodline in Leavenworth County I look forward to serving you and your family.
- A positive vision has driven me to run for office and it's that same positive vision that will shape how I serve. I ask for your vote on November 5th and commit to pouring my heart into this important role.

Three things for voters to know

- I served in the US Army, I also served as one of your Kansas State Representatives (2013 - 2021). During my eight years I served on several committees. Children and Seniors, Appropriations, Education Budget, Vice Chair of Health, Vice Chair of Insurance, Chair, Agriculture and Natural Resources Budget, and Republican Majority Whip.
- While serving Kansas in Topeka I was known as a good listener and provider of factual material. When I introduced the Industrial Bill (Farm Bill) the majority of legislators wanted nothing to do with it. Why? It was too controversial. My answer was: I am here to get the job done.
- I am asking for your vote on November 5, 2024 because I have the background to bring people together and get the job done. Our property taxes are too high and I would like to bring those LAVTR funds back to Leavenworth County. I oppose foreign ownership of land in Kansas. I strongly support the fight against Fentanyl. I am asking for your vote on November 5th.

Three things for voters to know

- I have been actively involved in numerous volunteer organizations working on local and state issues. I like challenges and look forward to serving my community in a greater capacity.
- I have a strong background in customer service and operations. My professional career was in the telecommunications industry where I held numerous positions until I retired in 2020. I am known for being a collaborator, getting things done, and having a positive attitude.
- There are many issues which need to be addressed including escalating property taxes, dwindling revenue streams, infrastructure and economic development. We also need a better vision for the future and a plan. I am committed to listening, communicating and being responsive. You can count on me to be a thoughtful, fact-based decisionmaker.

Three things for voters to know

- Jeff is running to bring real change and real leadership to the 5th District. As a fifth-generation Kansan, seasoned business leader, and devoted family man, Jeff understands the values and priorities of our community.
- Jeff will work to pass meaningful tax relief, stand with law enforcement, and advocate for our veterans, retirees, and educational initiatives to build a stronger, more prosperous Kansas for all.
- As a small business owner, Jeff knows first-hand about excessive insurance costs and high deductibles and is committed to improving healthcare. Shortening waiting lists for disabled Kansans and boosting reimbursement rates are essential steps to lowering healthcare costs. Jeff will prioritize the well-being of our communities and remove barriers to effective healthcare.

Three things for voters to know

- This session, Jeff worked with Democrats and Republicans to provide record tax relief to Kansans. He reduced income taxes for hardworking Kansas, eliminated the state tax on Social Security income, doubled the childcare tax credit and reduced property tax burdens.
- Jeff has been fighting for Medicaid Expansion since he entered public office in 2017. He also helped turn the Lansing Correctional Facility into a museum to draw in tourism to our district.
- Jeff was part of the team that repealed the Brownback Experiment and restored funding to our public schools. He was also critical in securing funding for a brand new veterans home right here in Northeast Kansas.

Three things for voters to know

- We are all aware of poor policies that cause inflation, overregulation, and burden families. I support and have voted for economic opportunity for all by reducing taxes and empowering businesses to hire and pay better salaries by removing barriers to success.
- As a member of the Senate Education Committee and a former classroom teacher who homeschooled my dyslexic son, youngest of four, I have supported a student-focused approach to education, which maximizes resources for teachers and classrooms and provides parents options.
- As Chair of multiple joint and Senate committees regarding healthcare, and as a veteran health insurance agent, I have supported state and federal health care reform that improves access to quality, affordable care yet gives consumers more choices and less regulation.

Three things for voters to know

- Reproductive Rights - The people rejected the abortion ban amendment in 2022 and their voice should be defended in the Senate against the Republican continuing battle on abortion rights.
- Medicaid Expansion - The Federal incentives in the American Rescue Plan Act of 2021 would provide an estimated $509 million in savings to Kansas over two years if Medicaid were expanded to low-income adults under the terms of the Affordable Care Act (ACA) and would extend KanCare to 150,000 low income adults and children.
- Increased Support of public education - Continued support of Governor Kelly's vision for primary and secondary education in the state. Stop cuts to special education. Increase incentives to attract and retain teachers.

Tim Johnson (R)

Three things for voters to know

- It is critical that we continue to reduce the unreasonable taxes that are currently in place. In 2024 we made a dent in the problem through bi-partisan legislation, but the problem still exists due to the high inflation of the last four years. The current format of "like sales appraisal valuation" is unfair and must be changed.
- Educational results must be improved in our schools and districts held accountable, while funding early education and K-12 (including special ed.) at the necessary levels.
- Kansas must reduce unnecessary spending and state bureaucratic organizations must not be allowed to increase costs in the private sector through unfunded mandates and over regulation.

Richard Paz (D)

Three things for voters to know

- We love rural Leavenworth County and small towns like Basehor & Linwood. Kansas is where neighbors help neighbors and I'm running for office because people in our community are being hurt by inflationary property taxes and our legislators are doing nothing about it.
- I will fight to lower residential property taxes by proposing capping residential valuations rates or lowering tax rates for ordinary Kansans and not special interests.
- 80% of Kansans support expanding MEDICAID. A healthier Kansas means a healthier workforce and lower medical costs in the long run. Why are legislators denying low-income Kansans access to healthcare? I won't because I support MEDICAID expansion.

Kansas House of Representatives
District #41

Aimee Bateman (D)
aimeeforkansas.com

Three things for voters to know

- Aimee Bateman prioritizes strengthening public education by advocating for increased school funding, smaller class sizes and enhanced resources for teachers, ensuring all children in Kansas, regardless of zip code, have access to high quality education.
- Committed to expanding Medicaid, Aimee champions affordable healthcare access for all Kansans, aiming to close coverage gaps and ensure comprehensive care for every resident, reflecting her dedication to equitable health services.
- Aimee is dedicated to criminal justice reform, advocating for the expansion of specialty courts and rehabilitation-focused alternatives to incarceration, supporting reintegration efforts and helping individuals rebuild their lives.
